NATIONAL THEATRISME, and Mrs. W. J. Flor mess "The Mighty Dollar," Pond's Ordea-House, "Mother in Law,"

THE attempt to kill Guiteau on Saturday, had it not failed, would have added another to the list of brutal murders. Guiteau's offense confers on no one the right to kill him. Under the sanctities of law this miserable man is being tried. He will be punished according to the most exact rule of justice possible in human hands. It is the duty of every member of society to uphold the law and respect the courts; otherwise it will become a community of sharp-shooters, with every the most desperate and expert in the habits of barbarism. The law that Guiteau offended, left to its course, will punish him; and it will also punish his would-be assassin. If there exists anywhere a disposition to pulliate the attempt of Saturday to take summary vengeance it is greatly to be deplored. Where society, as it sometimes happens that only lasts long enough for the patient by reason of its newness or for any reason whatever, is without law, it may for the moment protect itself; but in a community like this, at the National Capital this class of "cray" persons, and the of a Republic of fifty million free people, grave affords the kind of security best while the trial is in progress and the law adapted to the situation. in complete operation, with the whole world looking on, there can be no palliation. Had the would-be assassin suchaps even the semblance of the plea of insanity. The miserable culprit is in the enstody of the United States Court under the control of the Judiciary Department of the United States Government, and no summary process of "lynch law" must be | Millions of people have their odd phases noted for the extent of its ice exports the colored voters of Virginia will look to the Washington Post for counsel on the Senatorial question-or any other matter.

THE stock report in the New York Times of Saturday embraces the sale of twenty thousand Virginia sixes consolidated at 117. This is two per cent, higher, we believe, than they were sold before election. It is quite evident that no panic has seized the bondholders.

THE State of Wisconsin has been disgraved by the lynching of an alleged out-law, one of the Williams brothers, at Durand. He was dragged out of the courtroom and hanged. The "eminently respectable citizens" who took the lead in this murder should be lawfully hanged as a wholesome example.

THE shooting of President Garfield shocked the civilized world, but it did not disgrace this Government or this people. The murder of the assassin while in the hands of the law and in the Capital of the Nation would be a lasting disgrace to the Government and a standing re-this manner of proceeding also imported from the Southern District of New York?

Parmoric editors should not let themselves loose in wild denunciation of the arrearages of pensions act. All the money required by that law stays in this country, and most of it goes where it does a deal of good. We are not sure but such a distribution of a part of our surplus revenues has thus far been better for the country than the application of the money on the public debt would

Ir would not be possible to name three other Indiana Democrats who exert so much influence on elections as D. W. Voorhees, W. C. De Pauw, and Thomas A. Hendricks. Yet all these are being read out of the party by heavy-calibred organs for advocating protection of home industries. The secret of the conversion of these gentlemen to the protective doctrine is the fact that Indiana has become a manufacturing State. A similar cause will produce a like result

LET it not be forgotten that the editor of the New York Tribune differs but little from Guiteau. He advised the assassination of General Grant by publishing a communication in the Tribune on the 9th day of January, 1875, of which the following is a copy :

Now that Kellog proposes to decide who shall belong to the Louisiana Legislature, and is backed by the United States army, might not President Grant better decide who shall belong to the next Congress, and enforce his decision by five or six regiments of United States troops, commanded by that truthful and just man, General Sheridan, and remove all regularly elected members to make place for the Caseys and Dents? If he Insists on fighting it out on this line some one will play Bru-tue to his Cosar without fall, which, by the way, would be a great bleading to the country,

The Tribine has not changed. It exhibits the same hatred toward President Arthur, General Grant, ex-Senator Conkling, and other Stalwart leaders of the Republican party as it did when it supported the Bourbon Democratic presidential and State tickets in 1872-3-4. It is a mulicious, rescally sheet, cowardly in its methods, covert in its meanness, and ready at any moment for purchase. Word has already been passed in the editorial rooms of the Tribune that the Administration of President Arthur is to be at-

Insanity and Crime.

In a majority of instances in which the plea of insanity has been successfully employed to shield a homicide from the penalty of murder the result has been regarded as a shameful mockery of justice, a wretched triffing with the established safeguards of human life. It cannot be doubted that much of the increased prevalence of capital crimes is due to the fact that so many murderers have been let off on what is popularly styled "the insanity dodge." For some years past there has been a growing sentiment antagonistic to the continued success of this expedient. Judges and juries have been less inclined than they were in the last decade to put implicit faith in the kind of evidence usually brought forward in support of the claim of irresponsible

A really insane man ought not to be hung. No one would recommend the execution of a maniac or of any person so clearly irresponsible as to impress all observers with his irresponsibility. But man's life and property at the mercy of be it lust or a fancied insult to abnormal

One must not be permitted world if the Government fails to protect the prisoner while he is being tried by his bootlegs outside of his pants, because to kill with impunity because he wears he insists in hearding money under his bed, or because he holds to some peculiar theory of his relations to the Deity.

CARTER HARRISON, mayor of Chicago, is a Kentuckian by birth, but a cosmopolite by adoption. When the German guests visited his village he welcomed them in a speech in the Ger-man language, and, as the hypercritical Times was forced to admit, "in very good German, at that." Yesterday the French came along, and Monsieur le Cartier extended them the freedom of his terri-tory in French as pure, presumedly, as that of a born Parislan.

MISS TERNE BAUMGRAS, a voung lady whose effective piano playing and marvelous in-terpretations of the master composers won for her so much colar from the critics at the college of music in Chroimath, sailed Saturday in the steamer Westphana for two years of European study. She will spend the coming season in Ber-tin under the instruction of Kuliak and later ex-pects to receive inition from Liszt. THE French line of ocean steamers-Compagnie General Transatiantique—seems to have had an access of favor from the public, somehave had an access of favor from the public, some-thing of which is due to the great convenience of sailing to and from Havre (only four hours from Paris), but more, perhaps, to the pleasant accom-modations and politic attentions of the officers in charge. Without doubt the most popular officer is mandant Franguel, of the steamship Canada a man of acknowledged courage, a fine seaman, and a bel espeit par excedence. His passengers pay him the fine compliment of leaving his protecting care with deep regret, and marking his recent voyage as most satisfactory and agreeable, some-thing long to be remembered.

The New Orleans Times indulges in a wealth of crudition that is alarming. It says that seven comets have been discovered this year, and seven comets have been discovered this year, and emphasizes the fact that this has been, so far as astronomical events are concerned, a remarkable year. To those who see in comets potraits of evil the extraordinary droubt that has pievailed in this country, the murater of the President, the terrible fires in Michigan, and the general epidemic of crime raging in the country will answer all the purposes of fulfillment. The sweet These indules in much fureboding, and winds up with this astronoming information: "Only one of the comets was visible to the maked eye; the rest were microscopic." We are sorry we do not own that microscopic. It must be very wonderful, and we agree to pay a good round price for it if it is capable of being partied with. A microscope that will discover comess, when from $200 to $500 is offered for their apprehension, will be an important addition to our cabinet.

FOR THE WOMEN.

-The once famous singer in England, Germany, and Italy, Madamo Schonberger Mar-coni, celebrated her ninety-sixth birthday at Dantadi on the 22d of October. She commenced her operatic career in 1797, and is still in excellent beauty.

-" Bernhardt was a bad sitter," Sarony says. "She sat for me five or six times. The pictures should have been cheft-d'enere, but she never keeps an engagement. She would agree to come at twelve o'clock, when the light was good, out would not get here before three o'clock, when it was gone. I could do no work with her."

-After all, Mrs. Langtry is to appear on the stage. On the authority of Mr. Charles Harris, the Cuckoo says that the lady has determined to appear on the boards. She will assuredly make her debut in New York in January next. She ap-peared Saturday high at an aristocratic amateur performance at Twicketham Town Hall, in Mr. Rac's conselictia, "A Fair Encounter."

He don't want to be billions or feverish, with his mouth tasting like cheese and his eyes blood-hot, month tasting like cheese and his eyes bloodshet, when the female is low-ling him over and taking account of stock. Of a urse these female doctors are all young and sool looking, and if one of them came into a sick soon where a man was in bed and he had chills, and was as cold as a wedge, and she should sit up close to the side of the hed and take hold of his hand his pulse would run up to a hundred and flay, and she would prescribe for a fever when he had chilblains.

on female doctors, A man who has been sick, and had male doctors, knows just how much he would feel to have a female doctor come tripping in and throw her fur-lined closk over a chair, take off her hat and gloves and throw them on a lounge, and come up to the bed with a pair of marine-blue eyes, with a twinkle in the corner, and look him in the wild, changeable eyes, and ask him to run out his tongue. Suppose he knew his tongue was coated so it looked like a yellow Turkish towel, do you suppose he would want to run out over five or six inches of the lower part of it and let that female doctor put her finger ou it to see how fur it was?

He would put that tongue up into his check, and wouldn't let her see it for twenty-five cents admission. We have all seen doctors put their hands under the bed clothes and feel of a man's feet to see if they were cold. If a female doctor should do that it would give a man cramps in the legs. A male doctor can put his hand on a man's stomach, and liver and hums, and ask him if he feels any pain there, but if a female doctor should do the same thing it would make a man sick, and he would want to get up and kick himself for employing a female doctor. Oh, there is no use talk-ine. NOT MUCH.

Now, suppose a man has heart disease, and a female doctor should want to listen to the beating of his heart. She would lay her left ear on his left breast, so her eyes and roseined mouth would he locking right in his face, and her wavy hair would be scattered all around there, getting tanglod in the buttons of his night shirt. Don't you suppose his heart would set in about twenty extra heats to the buttons of his night shirt. Den't you suppose his heart would get in about twenty extra heats to the minute? You bet! And she would smile—we will bet $10 she would smile—and show her pearly teeth, and the ripe lips would be working as though she were counting the beats, and he would think she was trying to whisper to him, and—. Well, what would he be doing all this time? If he was not dend yet, which would be a wonder, his left hand would.

General Hatton, who was a newspaper man before he stooped to take office, evidently knows how it is himself, for he has already made a decision of some importance to publishers in a way that is calculated to facilitate their business. The rule ought always to be to construe doubtful provisions of the postal and other revenue laws, whether customs, internal, or what not, in favor of the individual citizeu and against the Government. If the law doesn't explicitly levy a tax which ought to be levied let Congress, and not some official, impose it.—Hobse-Democraf.
